Author's Preface.

Most persons whose avocations or studies are connected even remotely with Chinese subjects are wont to confess the need of convenient manual of reference for the purpose of determining dates according to either the European or the Chinese method of computation; and a system of comparion for the names attributed to years. months, and other periods is also frequently a desideration with translators and readers of Chinese literature. The comoiler of the following tables has thought, accordingly, that their publication in a convenient form may prove useful, although much yet remains to be done for the elaboration of comparative calendars, etc. that should leave nothing to be desired. With THE Catette is a General Weekly Newspa. the exception of the Cyclical Table of per, containing Officially Revised Reports Years, and the Table of Solar Terms, both of Cases heard at the Supreme and Consular of which were originally compiled by Dr. Courts, Police Cases, and Proceedings in Bankruptcy; Original Articles; Notes and Otteries on Legal points; Reports of Public Guide, from which (with some alteration) Meetings; News of the Week. HE "TREATY PORTS OF CHINA L & JAPAN," AND "NOTES AND QUERIES ON CHINA AND JAPAN. EXTRACTS FROM REVIEWS.

(From the "Straits Times," July 27, 1868. Some time ago we had occasion to remark upon the progress that Literature as represented by the Press had made and was making in the East, and our attention has again been called to the subject by the reweipt of a Hongkong publication which deserves some notice and which we have much pleasure in introducing to the knowledge of our readers. We allude to Notes and Queries on thing and Japan, published nouthly by Mr Saint, the proprietor of the China Mail newspaper. This publication is well printed on good paper, and in size and shape is very like its well-known namesake or prototype at home, and is equally a mine containing very curious and useful information regarding the language, literature, history, magners and customs of the Chinese and in a less degree of the Japanese. It says a good deal for the extent and stability of the footing of Europeans in China, that such a publication as this be established and conducted with apparently auccessful vigour. The publication is altogether a very ineresting one, and wishing it every success. we commend it to the attention and support of our readers.

(From the "Friend of India," June 4, 1868. We acknowledge with thanks the receip of the numbers for the current year of Notes and Queries," a most deserving Anglo-Chinese monthly, edited by Mr N. B. Dennys, whose "Treaty Ports of China and Japan" are so well known. From the names attached to the "Notes" we can see that the contributors include some of the best Chinese scholars in the East. Its interest is not confined to China, and it will be of valuable assistance to all scholars, who have directed their attention towards the subject of Buddhism and its literature, and generally to all who are interested in orilental antiquities. It deserves to be better

(From the "London Examiner," May 16, 1868.)

This really useful volume ["Treaty Ports China and Japan " is intended as a guide for travellers and residents in China and Japan, and as a book of reference for mercantile men generally. It contains an account, historical and political, of all the open ports of these countries, together with eking, Yedo, Hongkong, and Macao. has been carefully compiled and edited b Mr N. B. Dennya: and the elaborate map and plans, with which the work abounds, considerably enhance its value. * * * We have thus given in outline some the more prominent portions of the chapter devoted to Canton, as a specimen of the the remainder of the treaty ports, we can only enumerate. MORTALITY IN THE MERCHANT (Mitchell's Maritime Register, June 28. The Report of the Registrar-General of Shipping and Seamen, showing the number, ages, ratings and causes of death in the Merchant Service, from reports to the Board of Trade, recently laid on the table of the House of Commons, and now printed, for the year 1868, is interesting, as being the first return compiled on mortality in the Commercial Marine since the "Merchant Shipping Act, 1867," came into force. The present table is an improvement on that c 1867, inasmuch as it gives a general head ing for each cause of death, in addition to that of a more specific description. The classification is said, by a note prefixed, to have been prepared from the various reports made principally by Masters of vessels to which the men belonged. The deaths in colonial ships are also included, and many, if not most, of those who have died abroad after their discharge from vessels, but no he cases of men who die under similar from British vessels in the United Kingdom, or who are too unwell to ships, and return to their own country and there die, are not, and cannot be, given in these tables. The return is, in reality, one of deaths on board ship, and of Seamen who leave our Ports never to make the home ward voyage. It is not, and does not profees to be, a statistical document supplying The following letter appears in the Pall the mortality among Merchant Seamen at home and abroad, nor does it distinguish British from foreign anbjects.
